

iM Sports™ Offers New Selection of Colors for Sports Compression Sleeves

iM Sports™ will be greatly expanding the number of colors available in its full arm sports sleeve category for running, basketball, football and baseball.

November 19, 2013 (FPRC) -- iM Sports™ full arm sports compression sleeves are currently available in five sizes and nineteen different colors as well as patterns. “From the start we’ve understood that one size does not fit all and we’ve worked hard to offer the best variety around,” explains Mo Nelson, founder of iM Sports. “We’ve been getting a large volume of requests from our running, baseball and basketball customers for more colors,” continues Mo. As a result iM Sports will be greatly expanding the number of colors available in the full arm sports sleeve category.

The new colors will be available this winter and will include Neon Orange, Neon Yellow, Neon Green, Royal Blue, Purple and an updated shade of Pink. “Being a Southern California based business means you’re either a Lakers fan or a Clippers fan and we can now match both team colors!” exclaims Mo. The selection of neon colors were chosen primarily for runners and the updated shade of pink is an attempt to more closely match the color which represents the fight against breast cancer. iM Sports regularly donates a portion of its proceeds to the Breast Cancer Research Foundation. “Having had skin cancer twice, I feel pretty strongly about helping to support cancer research in all its forms,” says Mo.

Even with the expanded line of colors iM Sports sleeves will still be manufactured in the United States in an effort to support American Manufacturing. Founder and owner Mo Nelson is a former Marine and ex law enforcement officer. iM Sports is the sister company to Tat2X which manufactures tattoo cover up sleeves that help employees comply with no visible tattoo polices at work. The expanded line of colors will only be available in the full arm sleeve for select sports such as running and cycling. iM Sports offers compression and sun protection sleeves in several categories including baseball, basketball, cycling, fishing, football, golf, running, swimming and triathlon sports. All iM Sports compression sleeves and apparel items are available online.
