

Computer Future Inc. Launches Unique Comparison Shopping Engine

Portal Designed to be Kid Safe and Family Friendly

Greenwood, IN February 6, 2014 (FPRC) -- Recent figures released by Forrester Research show that 83% of Internet Users have made an online purchase. The data also revealed that Internet shopping exceeded $50,070,000,000 in 2012. Responding to this trend, Computer Future Inc. has launched FindTheBestDeals.com, a unique comparison shopping engine that is safe for all Internet users.

Company spokesperson William Garrett noted, "Computer Future, Inc. started by providing computer hardware, and software solutions for businesses and individuals. Throughout the years, we have maintained our commitment to only promote family friendly and kid safe products and content. It's not a tradition, it's our commitment. Our ultimate goal was to create the largest, safest, fastest family friendly and kid safe comparison shopping engine. So, we teamed up with some very talented programmers and went to work. After thousands of hours of planning and design, we are proud to have launched FindTheBestDeals.com."

FindTheBestDeals.com users do not buy from the site. They are provided with information, and can purchase from the online stores they choose. The search engine produces very fast results, but filters out any products, content, or images that are not family friendly and child safe. Users will not see objectionable videos, music, or video games, nor will lingerie model photos or adult items appear in search results. The site provides details about millions of brand name items, and all of them can be ordered online. Every store offers secure checkout, and will ship anywhere in the United States. Users have to option to compare prices when the item they want is offered by multiple participating stores. They can use the search box, or category directory. Shoppers are able to save an unlimited number of items, and then click a compare button, to see all of the items that they have saved. Site users have the option to shop by brand, store, or within a category, and will see photos of most items.

"Our goal is to provide a single site where Internet users can use one search box to shop multiple websites, and find the best deals. We offer live help, in case shoppers need information about how to contact one of the stores. FindTheBestDeals.com is designed to save shoppers time and money. They can choose from among 10 million items that can all be delivered to their doors. Hundreds of America's top online retailers provide us with their updated online catalogs." explained Garrett.

ABOUT COMPUTER FUTURE INC.:

Computer Future, Inc was founded in 1988, to provide computer hardware and software solutions to businesses and individuals. The company is committed to offering only family friendly and kid safe products and content. They have recently realized a long-time goal, by launching FindTheBestDeals.com, a large, fast child safe and family friendly comparison shopping engine.

Contact Information

For more information contact William Garrett of Computer Future Inc.
(<http://www.findthebestdeals.com>)
800-639-0160

Keywords

find the best deals

online stores

You can read this press release online here