

Emmanuel K. David Launches Video of How He Transformed $40k Debts Into a 6 Figure Income In 12 Months

Online Marketing Coach Emmanuel K. David had a $40,017 student loan debt when he first started but paid it off through his online business while quitting his low paying day jobs. He recently shared his story in a new video for those aspiring to do the same.

Toronto, ONT, February 20, 2015 (FPRC) -- The story of Emmanuel K. David is one that brings joy to those who are in need of good news. For anyone struggling with debt and a minimum wage income, his story represents a beacon of hope. The uniqueness with his story is that it comes with a director's commentary- a step by step guide of how he managed to go from debt to profit through his online business. He is now sharing this story on his website EKDavid.com which also gives practical tips and online marketing skills to help those who want to launch their online business. He is now sharing his life story online via a newly released video to inspire people to use his techniques for themselves.

While online success stories often portray an image of luxury and indulgence, Emmanuel brings a breath of fresh air as he promotes the idea of living in contentment and using financial abundance to bless the orphans, widows and the less fortunate. This refreshing perspective can be seen as an influence from his proclaimed faith in Jesus Christ.

Furthermore, instead of promoting an unrealistic "get-rich-quick" mentality that online marketing often portrays, Emmanuel clearly states that his story was accomplished through hard work, wise investments and dedication. He even warns those who are looking to "get-rich-quick" to save their money and time because they are looking to buy a dream that is not real. As he explains: "building a business takes time, a willingness to learn and taking consistent action. Those who are not prepared to do this should re-evaluate whether they are realistic in starting an online business."

Now a home business and online marketing coach, his passion is to help others pay off their debts, find financial freedom, and fulfill their passion and calling in life. His trainings are seen as no-fluff and practical online marketing skills that anyone can use to promote any products or services that they are affiliated with.
