

Web Hosting Secrets Revealed Confirms HostGator Still Top Choice For Bloggers In 2015

WebHostingSecretsRevealed.net recently published a survey of some 36 bloggers to find out what company served as their host, and HostGator was the single most popular choice.

Labuan Federal Territory, Labuan, February 20, 2015 (FPRC) -- Web hosting is the water of the internet, nothing exists without it. The providers of this space are increasing and diversifying all the time, and competition is fierce between them as they all battle for market share. Web Hosting Secrets Revealed takes the position of industry insiders and publishes these for public consumption so that people can get a better understanding of web hosting before committing to a provider. Their latest WHSR Web Hosting Survey 2015 has revealed that HostGator are still on top for 2015.

HostGator came out on top as the single most represented brand in the survey, and of all those surveyed 71% said they had no plans to change their web host, suggesting that the vast majority of bloggers are more than happy with the service HostGator provides. What's more, they rated their most important factors as price and customer service, two elements in which HostGator are known to excel.

More than a few of those questioned in the survey professed to have read Jerry's review on Hostgator hosting before committing to the provider, and those bloggers still host via Hostgator, suggesting both Hostgator's service and WHSR's analysis to be outstanding.

A spokesperson for Web Hosting Secrets Revealed explained, "We are impressed but not surprised that HostGator has managed to hold onto their supremacy in the field, but it is not without caveats. The provider was still outweighed by 'other' choices, suggesting that the diversification of web hosting has split the market share in such a way that no one company will ever become ubiquitous, and that is a challenge HostGator must rise to in order to get to the next level. SiteGround are also hot on their heels, so it will be interesting to see what 2015 holds for these two companies' momentum."
