The physical human brain and mind is unique working at different levels. Storyteller Robin G Howard releases four new short stories one of which is -Equations of Divinity and refers to a technological divinity that replaces the word, God.

October 6, 2015 (FPRC) -- Author Howard believes the word 'God' is obsolete and has replaced it with a modern equivalent rejecting orthodox religions as mythical earthly history.

In this and the future world of advanced technology, the language of all divine existence is mathematics. Contained in the human body are quantum formulae, DNA, equations, and binary codes. The body controlled by the brain also contains unseen quantum particles that link the physical to the ethereal.

Storyteller Robin G Howard releases four new short stories one of which is -Equations of Divinity and refers to a technological divinity that replaces the word, God. The observation of a strange spheroid reveals the mathematical formulae in every object and all living entities including text formulated thought and prayers. The title of the book is Adventures in Space and Fiction Fantasy to be published first in electronic format and then paperback. It reveals incredible journeys showing astounding visions never before seen by any mortals. Other stories include - The Monadic Chair - Mosaic Death, and Judiciary of the Hoverers. The stories are suitable for anyone with an insatiable imagination from teens to grandparents and may change the way you think.

Howard lives in Thanet, Kent. UK and is the author of the Jim Long Space Agent series of six books; the Psychic Thinker, and How to think like a Mystic. The book series is in the science fiction fantasy genre and includes the supernatural and paranormal. In the 1960's while serving five years in the RAF, a dream of the future allowed him to witness an incredible incident. Throughout his life, many other lesser events attributed to his guardian angel have contributed to his belief in mathematical divinity. He does not want to question people's faith but to project new ideas and a way of thinking differently from ancient ritualistic theology.
