

Video Traffic X Bonus Launches With Review and Big Bonus For Video Traffic X Buyers

Video Traffic X is about to come to market and VideoTrafficXBonus.com has launched offering insights into the new video creation and search engine optimization software, including a huge bonus for visitors.

October 15, 2015 (FPRC) -- Video has exploded and become the number one source of content on the internet. Video is the preferred media of most internet users, YouTube alone has over one billion users and they attract over a billion video views each and every day. To take advantage of this commercial opportunity a new tool is being launched, Video Traffic X. VideoTrafficXBonus.com has gone behind the scenes to review the upcoming launch offering detailed insights into what could be one of the biggest video launches of the year.

Although videos rank very well in search engines they can be difficult and time consuming to create.

Video Traffic X removes that obstacle creating relevant, engaging videos almost instantly. Users simply enter their keywords and the software finds images and content based on the keywords and then creates a quality video including voice over, sub titles and background music. Once the video has been created the software ensures the videos gain traction in the search engines thanks to their proprietary SEO system.

A spokesperson for Video Traffic X Bonus commented:

“We have been privileged to see the system in action. Not only does it create 100% unique videos, there is absolutely no training required, it’s push button easy. We hate the term push button, but in this case it’s absolutely true. This allows internet marketers to crank out more videos which means more profits. However that is only part of the system. It also includes some really smart SEO advances that ensures the video rank really well in Google with no effort at all. To find out more about these techniques, which includes automatic content creation, people should read our full video traffic x review which details the good and the bad about the system. In the coming days we are also launching our bonus, which is the biggest bonus we have ever offered so people should bookmark the site for updates.”
