Doing so successfully enough to make it the sole revenue stream is another order of magnitude, and one that Hernan Vazquez has mastered several times over. The conversion optimization expert has now created a new coaching course, Convert and Prosper, which he is offering via a membership site.

Convert and Prosper is a unique membership site and coaching program where Vazquez dives deep into sales funnels, traffic generation, conversions and funnel tracking. Vazquez takes users through the entire process of setting up a sales funnel, step by step, click by click, showing the students the tools, the tricks (like in this video tutorial) and the results he has achieved and how to do the same.

In addition, the membership grants the students exclusive access to a powerful community of entrepreneurs, so that students can ask questions, leave comments and receive encouragement from other members, as well as sharing their own journeys and discoveries in a supportive environment.

A spokesperson for Hernan Vazquez explained, "We are thrilled to be able to launch Convert and Prosper, which will give people the potential to transform their fortunes online and get the kind of expert insight and mentoring that can help them break through and get the results they have always been looking for, but didn't know how to achieve.
