

HighPayingAffiliatePrograms.com Releases Full BNB Formula Review

BNB Formula, the new short-term rental hosting training program by entrepreneur Brian Page, officially launches on April 26, 2016. See my full review and course outline here.

Arvada, CO, United States - April 21, 2016 (FPRC) --

Bill Burniece, of HighPayingAffiliatePrograms.com, has released a full review and outline of Brian Page's new training program the BNB Formula.

Brian created this formula to earn over $100,000 in his first six months and over $300,000 his first year with Airbnb, without owning any properties. Airbnb is a service-based website for people to list, find, and rent lodging. Brian is an expert in automation and outsourcing, spending only a few hours a week to manage his BNB business.

Brian stated "My goal is for students not only to watch and learn but to take direct and specific action towards building their BNB business. I truly want results for my students so I'm limiting the number of those who are accepted into the training on April 26. This business can be done almost anywhere in the world Airbnb operates, in 192 countries. With the projected growth of the industry, I really believe we are still very early in this industry. For those who have the ability to recognize a real opportunity, this is it."

According to Brian, there is no other program available anywhere, let alone this comprehensive, that teaches students how to build a portfolio of profitable BNB listings.

The BNB Formula course is scheduled to be launched and open to students on April 26, 2016, and will be open for 10 days until May 6th when the program closes to new registrations.
