The foreseeable future looks good for tourism in Australia and travelers need to ensure they obtain the best deal, announces HolidayGurus.com.au

The foreseeable future looks good for tourism in Australia and travelers need to ensure they obtain the best deal, announces HolidayGurus.com.au. MAROOCHYDORE QLD - March 14, 2017 /MarketersMedia/ -- Holiday travel is expected to reach 233,355 visitors for the 2016-2017 period, according to Tourism Research Australia. This figure takes into account both domestic and international travelers age 15 and older and does not take into account those who are traveling for business, individuals visiting friends and relatives and visitors to the country for other purposes. When those individuals are included, the total number of visitors is anticipated to be 603,979. Every individual traveling to or within the country needs to make travel arrangements, and Holiday Gurus can be of help.

"Every person searching for holiday packages should turn to us, as we are known for our experience and service. Clients know their holiday will be the best it can be and that they will get value for their money. Our goal is to ensure our clients have a wonderful time without spending any more than they absolutely have to," Kirsty, spokesperson for Holiday Gurus, announces.

The travel gurus specialize in one area and have local knowledge that can be shared with clients. The gurus search for new Travel Deals every week and never add commission. This helps to ensure clients get a great deal on every holiday, and membership in Holiday Gurus provides travelers with access to travel cards, travel SIMs, lay-buy options and discounts on insurance, tours, attractions and more.

"Very few things are as frustrating to a traveler as returning home from a holiday only to find they have missed out on one or more major attractions or they have paid more than they needed to for their holiday. Doing so limits the things they can fit in during the time they are in the country. Our gurus work to ensure this doesn't happen and that clients make the most of every minute and save money while doing so," Kirsty states.

The holiday travel forecast remains good for the foreseeable future. Tourism Research Australia predicts that 822,465 individuals will come to the country in the 2024-2025 period, with 306,049 traveling for a holiday. Now is the time to book a holiday, as prices will likely go up in the coming years, thanks to the popularity of the country as a tourist destination.

"We offer the best resort rates in the country, so clients can travel with confidence and take advantage of cheap holidays. Everything can be obtained through us, and travelers speak to someone with first-hand experience. This makes it easier to dream and travel, and we offer access to countless activities and destinations. Give us a call today to begin planning the holiday of your dream," Kirsty recommends.
