New York, United States - March 14, 2017 /PressCable/ -- Bar Works, the New York headquartered investment company, today announced the opening of their latest site, in Miami's Wynwood District.

Bar Works is an American company providing coworking office space to entrepreneurs and startups. Through providing these spaces workers are able to thrive in an environment which encourages productivity and much valued interaction. Investors are funding workspaces to make this project a reality.

The Miami site is situated at 31 NW 23rd Street in the Wynwood district is attracting huge amounts of attention for its creative targeted offering aimed at inspiring artists, photographers, graphic designers and other solopreneurs to co work in a fresh, funky and stimulating space.

Jonathan Black, chairman of Bar Works said,

"Heading for the Sunshine State makes good sense for Bar Works. Florida is peak economic growth is outpacing the national average and has much more going on there than tourism. The state has a high-value manufacturing sector that includes aviation and medical sciences, which in turn attract more businesses and a thriving financial community."

He added, "Our new venue in the Wynwood district is right in the heart of the Arts and Fashion District and is also a tech hub. We have 7500 square feet of space, enough to provide around 350 full-time workstations and plenty of social event areas. And we believe our new alliances with Bulletproof Coffee and the Pure Green juice company will have a wide appeal across the local area bring in new members and ad-hoc members."

Rates for the workstations and spaces are billed for as little as an hour at a time, proving a boon for new and small businesses who have outgrown the home office or studio but don't want the added burden of a huge rental commitment.

The new location is sited in a former warehouse building that has already undergone massive renovation and upgrading. There are wealth of high end retailers and services all within walking distance.
