Graphitii is a web-based software that turns user's video into a cinemagraph that converts. It is more than a photo editing tool. The product majors on making high-quality cinemagraphs. March 15, 2017 /MarketersMedia/ -- This premium cloud-based service allows marketers to tap into the power of eye-catching and unique motion to create beautiful cinemagraphs in just a few minutes. Users can also get the software to work without having skills or any expensive software like Photoshop.

Due to Graphitii, users are now able to create stunning and unique cinemagraphs based on their styles with a few simple clicks. There is no need for doing any complicated process or having any technical background. Moreover, Graphitii is 100% web-based, so there is no complexity for users to install from any devices. They are allowed to get access to the software from anywhere including their computer and their mobile phone.

The producers give their users the power to import all of their photos and videos directly into Graphitii software without any difficulties. By doing this, not only can users have better control over their business, but they can also improve the interaction with their customers and create fully customized cinemagraph until it meets their expectation.

In addition, the software allows users to create cinemagraph simply and instantly to use. This could help them save a lot of money because hiring outsourcing designers for their promotion videos is no longer needed.

The tool is very easy to use. After running the software, the user can upload video and cut their clip to the perfect length. Next, select the frame they want to use as the frozen portion of their cinemagraph. The user can then choose the area they want to bring to life by "colouring it in". Finally, decide to export their cinemagraph as a GIF or MP4, or share it directly to social media, and instantly inspire their followers to action.

"When it comes to Facebook ads the hardest part is creating those images that your target audience can't ignore. When you get that perfect image/gif that brings down your ad spend and increases your sales conversions you know your onto a winner. Graffiti makes this so easy. I'm even using it to create gifs to put into my email campaigns to increase click through rates. It's a winner!" quoted by Alex Sebastian, a happy customer of this product.

Moreover, the faster responsive customers get an abundance of interesting bonuses with Graphitii soft. Some of these include:

- o Viral Video Box: This plugin for WordPress allows marketers to brand audio and video players with their logo.
- o Video Marketing Blueprint: Users will learn how to use videos to market their business and generate huge leads without amazing video making or recording skills to start.
- o Video Rank Alliance: Marketers can learn about the simple but powerful techniques to rank their videos on YouTube quickly and easily. This bonus is totally newbie friendly and no experience needed.
