

Teddy Shake Says New Vision Statement In Development For Pink Flamingo Float

As Teddy Shake approaches the nine month anniversary of the launch of their pink flamingo float, a company spokesperson announced today that a new vision statement is in development for the inflatable.

As Teddy Shake approaches the nine month anniversary of the launch of their pink flamingo float, a company spokesperson announced today that a new vision statement is in development for the inflatable. Miami, FL, United States - March 15, 2017 /PressCable/ --

Since Teddy Shake launched their pink flamingo float in September, excitement and enthusiasm for the float continue to increase. The inflatable pink flamingo has become the best-selling flamingo float on Amazon.com, the exclusive selling partner for the float. During this time, Teddy Shake has received quite a bit of feedback about the flamingo float. They are now using some of these interactions with customers and incorporating them into the development of a new vision statement.

"Our customers have shown a fantastic enthusiasm towards our pink flamingo float," explained Teddy Shake spokesperson Bailey Anderson. "We love to hear their stories, their ideas, their feedback. They have provided us with new insight into what is important to them in an inflatable, and we want to use this information as we begin steps to move product to the next level."

The exact vision statement has not been finalized as of yet, but Anderson indicated that Teddy Shake intends to release the statement prior to the summer.

To date, over ninety customers have written reviews for the Teddy Shake pink flamingo float. Ninety-nine percent of reviewers said they loved their Teddy Shake float. Melissa wrote a five-star review and said "I got this for my mom since she has a pool in her backyard, and it's epic! It's a HUGE float and is awesome. All the kids fight over who can ride on it, and honestly, two can fit at once. Next year we will probably get a second one because everyone likes this one so much. I can't wait to use it next year at the beach too."

Currently priced at $34.99, the Teddy Shake inflatable flamingo float is sold exclusively on Amazon.com. Free shipping is available for any purchase over $49.
