The energy drink has really taken off in the United Kingdom and more attention will be fixed on these drinks thanks to the signing of these sports stars, announces RichEnergy.com London, Surrey - March 15, 2017 /MarketersMedia/ -- Rich Energy, the UK's premium energy drink, announces the company recently made a raft of significant signings to their ambassador roster. This includes English sailing star Alex Thomson, whose Hugo Boss boat came second in the prestigious Vendee Globe, world boxing champion Gennady Golovkin and four time world scooter champion Dakota Schuetz. All will serve as brand ambassadors for Rich Energy Drinks.

William Storey, the Rich Energy Drink CEO, states, "We are pleased to add more world champions and leaders in their sports to our company as we take on Red Bull and Monster and expand internationally."

The average adult needs seven to nine hours of sleep every night, according to Mayo Clinic. The Independent, however, reports that a majority of individuals only get 6.8 hours each night, thus they may find they are stressed, become depressed and suffer from a range of medical complaints. In addition, they may feel bad and find they lack in productivity. When this is the case, an energy drink can provide a much needed boost.

"Our premium and innovative drink offers a crisp, clean taste and high performance. We spent the past six years working with leading beverage experts to ensure this is the case, and our product has none of the drawbacks seen with our competitors. The elevated taste and experience are sure to be appreciated by users," Richard Fletcher, spokesperson for Rich Energy, states.

Individuals find they can consume the energy product by itself or use it as a mixer, as the results are great either way. Pure mineral water sourced from a natural alpine spring and luxury organic sugar cane are only two of the ingredients found in the Rich Energy drinks. The drink is perfect for the discerning consumer.

"All products are made in our manufacturing facility, and the cans are produced in the United Kingdom. Thanks to our attention to detail, we have obtained the highest available certification in both the European Union and the United States, and our drinks have the lowest sugar content. The balance between caffeine and taurine is amazing, and users find they get the energy performance they desire. Be sure to try Rich Energy products today. You won't be disappointed," Fletcher promises.
