Knock Down Rebuild enables a homeowner to avoid the fees, stamp duties, and real estate commissions associated with the purchase of a property with an existing home.

It also means that people who love their location but need a new home can have both.

And with new land releases offering smaller site sizes, purchasing a large site with an older home, Knocking Down and Rebuilding gives the best of both worlds - large land size and an innovative new home.

Award-winning master builders Mincove Homes in Wollongong Illawarra, has now launched a specialised Knock Down Rebuild service.

Mincove constructs an entirely new residential building on the site of the old one. None of the fixtures, frames, plumbing, electrical or structural components are reused.

A key differentiator of the company's Knock Down Rebuild service is the affordability, energy efficiency and high quality of the new home.

Mincove Homes experts will guide their clients through the whole process including surveys, demolition, development approvals and occupation certificates. The company aims to becoming partners in the build from day one to the day clients walk into their new homes and beyond.

According to David King, General Manager from Mincove Homes,

"The growth of the residential real estate market in the Illawarra, Shoalhaven and Southern Highlands serves as an opportunity for us to apply the high quality build and exceptional customer service we're known for to the Knock Down Rebuild market.

We rebuild quality homes from the ground up so that our clients can enjoy the benefits of a brand new custom-designed home in a special location or without having to change their address."
