Altman Luggage have been in business since 1920 and overall has over 100 years of knowledge and experience behind them. They explain that they know their business like no other and pride themselves on their company values of great customer service, honesty and having luggage and pen experts on their staff.

The company has been featured in publications, including Time Out NY, for being the longest standing business in the lower east side of Manhattan. As they move onto their 97th birthday they have also branched out into e-commerce and hope to serve customers throughout the US with their online store.

Altman Luggage are one of the very few authorized Rimowa brand dealers in the tri-state area and offer the largest selection of Rimowa in the US. They also offer a wide selection of other popular luggage brands including Tumi, Samsonite, Briggs and Riley amongst many others. They also stock luxury brands in watches and pens such as Luminox and Montblanc.

There is a range of corporate gifts available on the website and they have provided engravings and custom bags for several Fortune 500 companies. Customized accessories feature the client's chosen image or company logo and include USB memory drives, shoe bags, mobile device holders and golf accessories. These are ideal for trade show give aways and corporate events.

Corporate products also include awards and recognition gifts. These come in many styles and can be engraved with anything the client wishes. Styles include glass plaques, acrylic awards with easel backs and perpetual plaques.
