Event production company South Bay Scenic, LLC announces the launch of its redesigned website with a crisp, new layout, new features and updated information about the company's services.

The upgraded website, www.sbscenic.com, now has a simple, easy-to-navigate layout with extensive details about the full line of services offered by the audio visual production company, including lighting, audio, and high definition web streaming. The site update includes a new 'FAQ' page that explains the booking procedures for the company's event production services, as well as a new 'Media' page, where clients can view photographs and videos of previous event production work completed for South Bay Scenic clients.

"We are very pleased to launch our upgraded website that is much more user friendly and relevant to the needs of clients. Now, anyone can visit our website and view images from some of the successful events we have worked on in the past, have their questions answered regarding our event production services, and learn how they too can access the services of our full-service production company," says the spokesperson from South Bay Scenic.

The re-launched website details South Bay Scenic services which cover every stage necessary for an event's success, from the planning to marketing and management. Whether that event is a corporate shareholder meeting, company picnic, or a concert, the company offers guidance through the entire production process including calculating the size of the space necessary, to the décor and catering.

In addition to supplying audio services with top of the line equipment, South Bay Scenic offers lighting expertise to light up any event space with theatrical or studio lighting from its inventory of full LED fixtures. They will also capture the event in stunning high definition with a wide variety of high quality video production services, along with high definition web streaming, still photography services and camera package rentals.
