Most vehicle owners have their vehicles regularly checked for the most typical technical issues. However, emergency auto repair services might be required in a variety of situations where taking the vehicle to an auto shop is impossible, due to any of a number of factors: clutch malfunction, braking system being damaged, battery failure and many others.

When such situations occur, the most convenient solution is to have a mobile auto repair team remedy the situation on site as quickly as possible. Vehicle breakdown will cause significant inconveniences to anyone, and having it towed to an auto shop involves additional expenses that can often be avoided.

Equipt Mobile Mechanics is a professional Sydney auto repair company with more than ten years of experience providing high-quality services to clients in Sydney and the surrounding area. The company offers convenient 24/7 emergency auto repair services, in an effort to provide their clients with prompt assistance whenever necessary.

The Concord company provides immediate assistance for all roadside breakdown situations. Braking failure are relatively frequent, with braking pads wearing out and requiring immediate replacement. Equipt Mobile Mechanics provides prompt intervention and assistance, offering pad and rotor replacement.

Other services include clutch and gearbox repair and replacement, transmission repair, full vehicle inspections and many others.

The company also provides immediate assistance in cases of flat tires, battery failure or vehicle not starting. If roadside repair is not possible, the company will provide all necessary towing services.

In an effort to provide high-quality, reliable services, the company works exclusively with licensed and certified technicians. All services are provided using state-of-the-art technology and legislation-compliant intervention methods.
