

Solicitors Belfast Northern Ireland Receive Invitation To Join Lawyer Directory

(March 20, 2017) Belfast, Northern Ireland, BT55HP -- In a climate where companies tend to inform only their closest business associates about new products or services, "Trial Lawyer Directory" opted to be much more progressive by announcing their business directory internet wide and allowing lawyers and solicitors in Belfast to register early. The launch took place early in January 2017 and it unveiled a unique new way for law firms Belfast to showcase their websites and services at the top of Google. Owner of the "Trial Lawyer Directory", Stuart Longridge says: "the idea was always to create a more powerful and exclusive directory listing where companies can display their "full working website" on page one rather than the limited and crowded listing we all know" It should be very worthwhile as it will help Belfast solicitors and lawyers showcase their websites higher in the search results and maybe even the Google 3 pack where the majority of people are looking for their help. "Trial Lawyer Directory's" is a new concept and its uniqueness will help businesses showcase their websites on page one without having to pay for expensive back linking techniques. When asked about the Business directory for law firms and solicitors Belfast, creator of the directory said: "it's going to be very successful as companies don't want to pay 1000's of pounds every month hoping their website reaches page one - with our directory their website can be on the first page in mere minutes" "Trial Lawyer directory" is now live.
