Global Data Center Server Market, has been prepared based on an in-depth market analysis with inputs from industry experts. The report covers the market landscape and its growth prospects over the coming years. March 20, 2017 /MarketersMedia/ -- Servers are the backbone of a data center operation, and they are used mainly for the transfer of data over computer networks. A server operation is dependent on hardware reliability and durability. A typical server consists of dual-power supplies, redundant array of independent disks (RAID) disk systems, and error-correcting code (ECC) memory, which are tested for operations by vendors. There have been several innovations in the design and manufacturing of servers, depending on business requirements.

Publisher's analysts forecast the global data center server market to grow at a CAGR of 4.89% during the period 2017-2021.

Covered in this report

The report covers the present scenario and the growth prospects of the global data center server market for 2017-2021. To calculate the market size, the report considers the revenue generated from the sales of servers, such as tower, rack, blade, and micro servers, used in data centers.

The market is divided into the following segments based on geography:

- Americas
- APAC
- EMEA

Publisher's report, Global Data Center Server Market 2017-2021, has been prepared based on an in-depth market analysis with inputs from industry experts. The report covers the market landscape and its growth prospects over the coming years. The report also includes a discussion of the key vendors operating in this market.

Key vendors

- HPE
- Dell
- IBM
- Lenovo
- Cisco Systems
