Oakley roofing started out 20 years ago as a Utah roofing company focused on the commercial market specializing in membrane roofing. Although the bulk of Oakley's business is still membrane roofing, the company has expanded to provide residential roofing as well. Roof replacement still remains the core business.

As a Salt Lake roofing contractor, Oakley Roofing provides professional residential and commercial roof installation and repair for home and business property in Utah. The company has a fully equipped sheet metal shop which allows for custom sheet metal fabrication and copper roofing projects. Commercial roofing repair and replacement can become overwhelming without qualified commercial roofing specialist assisting in the repair, replacement and other emergency roofing needs of a business.

Company owner Bryce Oakley says "We employ professional roofers who are dedicated to their trade. Our installers have been trained and certified by our roofing product manufacturers and have years of experience roofing Salt Lake City properties... Our goal is to provide the best customer service in the industry and we believe that to be the key to our success. We guarantee your satisfaction..."

The roofing company's goal is to provide affordable solutions for Utah's residential roofing and commercial roof needs, which would include small business roof repair and even larger commercial roofing membrane replacement projects. The company develops custom roofing projects for Utah home and business budgets.

Oakley Roofing is on a mission to be the best roof repair and roofing replacement company in Utah. Whether its residential property or a commercial building, a team of qualified roof installers are ready to repair, replace or install any type of roofing or commercial roof material. The company offers emergency roof repair and year round maintenance service.

Bryce Oakley further added "We want to be Utah's premier roofing contractor... We pride ourselves on giving our customers a thorough and honest analysis of the condition of their roof. We identify the cause of specific problems customers are experiencing with their roof and offer solution options. We treat your roof as if it were our own..."

Roofing in Utah poses some problems unique to the State, due to altitude, climate and air quality. Oakley's installers are highly experienced in roof repair and have learned to identify potential problem areas on a roof. This allows the company to make the necessary adjustments during a roof installation so that these problem areas never become a problem.
