At the end of the summer last year, Teddy Shake launched their eighty-inch pink flamingo float. During the fall and winter, demand for the flamingo inflatable continued to increase, as the float gained a loyal base of customers. As the warmer weather grows closer, Teddy Shake announced today that a new Amazon.com product listing is in development for the pink flamingo float.

"We purposely selected Amazon.com as the exclusive selling partner for our flamingo float," said Teddy Shake company spokesperson Bailey Anderson. "They have enabled us to reach a base of customers much broader than a simple website would have done. These first nine months, it has been exciting to see our sales grow, as well as the customer enthusiasm for our product. So many customers have contacted us with their thoughts and reviews of the float, and also provided us with personal stories and photos. We want to draw on this information and update our Amazon.com listing to include some of these items."

To date, there have been over ninety customer reviews of the Teddy Shake flamingo pool float, with the average review rating is a 4.8 out of 5 stars. 99% of customers have said they like their Teddy Shake flaming float. One satisfied customer wrote, "I bought this so that I could float down the river in my local area. It came in, during the fall, so I have a year to wait for all of that. So what does a person with a giant flamingo do in the winter? Blow it up and let their kid think it is theirs. I blew this up in my living room and let my 15 months old go to town. She LOVED it. It was a huge hit. I can hardly wait to put her on it while floating the river. She is going to be stoked. It is very sturdy and blows up in three areas, so that makes it a little easier to get blown up, multiple people can help."

Currently priced at $39.99, the Teddy Shake pink flamingo float by is only available on Amazon.com. Free shipping is available.
