A new NFL report on Adrian Peterson's future has been launched by Pro Sports Daily. The site is the home for all the latest US sports gossip, news and reports. Santa Monica, United States - April 15, 2017 /PressCable/ -- Pro Sports Daily, a sports news site for fans of MLB, NBA, NFL and NHL, has launched a new report on former Vikings running back and league MVP, Adrian Peterson. The site gathers together news articles from around the web and presents them in one easy place, so that fans can quickly and easily get the news they want, when they want it.

More information is available at: <http://prosportsdaily.com>.

The Adrian Peterson report was written by Rachel Wold, and explains that the veteran running back still hasn't landed a deal, to the surprise of many around the league. It is becoming increasingly clear that Peterson won't be signing a new deal ahead of the NFL draft.

Peterson has been in talks with a number of teams, most recently the New Orleans Saints, but as of yet has not signed a deal with any new team. The former Vikings star is one of the best running backs of all time, but his future is uncertain as age catches up with him.

Pro Sports Daily has also launched a series of other reports on breaking news, gossip and insights across the American sporting world, including the latest on Eli Manning and the memorabilia scheme, Pittsburgh Steelers chairman Dan Rooney, and the future of Marshawn Lynch and Richard Sherman.

The latest MLB stories focus on Red Sox' David Price and his return to throwing, alongside articles on Tim Tebow's future in baseball, and Carlos Correa's contract extension talks.

Basketball news sees discussion on Melo agreeing to a trade after seven seasons with the Knicks, and a feature on how the Magic's leaked whiteboard photo played a role in the GM getting fired.

The latest features from the NHL world include Team USA naming fifteen players to their World Championship squad, and the addition of Gerard Gallant as head coach of the Golden Knights.
