Online marketing has grown considerably in recent years, with more and more businesses looking for effective ways to leverage the ever-growing marketing potential of the internet. Surveys show that almost 95% of all consumers use online reviews and Google searches to find business information, making online visibility key to overall business success.

Video marketing is one of the most important aspects of all digital marketing strategies, as video content has the highest engagement rates. Videos are shared up to 12 times more than text and pictures combined, making them one of the most effective means of promoting products and services.

However, professional video production services are relatively expensive, often making them unaffordable for local businesses. Instant Spokesperson Vol 3 is a collection of video templates that can be used by both business owners and digital marketers to create custom video commercials for businesses in a variety of industries.

Each video was created by professional producers using expert actors, and all scripts have been pre-tested for the highest engagement rates. In an effort to provide as much flexibility as possible, the creators of Instant Spokesperson Vol 3 have also added a raw, green-screen version of each video, as well as a version without background music for further customization.

All videos have enough space for each business owner or digital marketer to add their own brand and business details.

Instant Spokesperson Vol 3 currently includes video commercials for different dental procedures such as teeth whitening, wisdom teeth removal, cosmetic and general dentistry, as well as videos for roofing contractors, garage door repairs, bathroom and kitchen remodeling and many others.
