The President of Coronado Equipment Sales, David Coronado, has over 20 years of professional business experience which he puts into his company. Coronado Equipment Sales was established in 2014 with an aim to bring high quality, reconditioned used equipment to their customers.

The Los Angeles based company purchase equipment, sell equipment, rentals and they also service equipment. They focus on providing forklifts and forklift parts in their showroom. The website features their current models for sale and the services that they offer.

The company stock a vast variety of forklift models and feature them on the website. They also stock forklifts to suit all budgets and stock electric and propane models. Customers can filter products by price, model, popularity and newness.

Some of the latest models to be stocked in the store include a Toyota 5,000 lbs. Electric Forklift and is an ideal forklift for someone looking for an affordable and dependable forklift. The completely refurbished model features a reconditioned battery with one year warranty and new tires among other features.

The shop also sells pallet jacks. These are available in electric and manual models, which means there are items to suit all budgets and uses. For example one of the most popular models stocked is the Raymond 112-FRE60L Rider Pallet Jack which has also been refurbished and is ideal for covering longer distances easily.

The company also offer forklift parts, a repair service and equipment rentals. Customers can easily enquire about these services by filling in the enquiry form provided on the website. The site also explains the benefits of renting a forklift which includes it being a more cost effective option for small businesses.
