Automobile accidents have long been on the list of the most important causes of worldwide mortality, with more than 1.5 million people losing their lives in vehicle accidents. For some segments of the populations, especially young people aged 5 to 29, car crashes are constantly among the top two causes of death.

Studies also show that a considerable proportion of accident-related deaths might have been avoided if the victims had an effective way to cut their seatbelts, break the window and leave the vehicle. Especially in cases of water submersion or burning vehicles, immediate exit is crucial.

Evac3 is a new survival tool designed to help those trapped inside crashed vehicles break the window and cut the seatbelt, thus exiting the vehicle as quickly as possible.

The tool was designed for increased portability and ease of access in case of emergency. It fits easily into any pocket or keychain, and it can be used immediately when needed. Larger similar tools tend to get lost in the vehicle during crashes; however, Evac 3 is immediately available due to its small, portable size.

The hard, blunt tip of the multi-functional tool allows any user to easily break any standard vehicle window. Due to its accessible design, the tool can be handled easily by users of all ages.

Cutting a stuck seatbelt is essential in any car crash where vehicle exit is necessary. Evac3 has a protected blade that can be used to cut the seatbelt. Due to its intelligent design, the blade will not accidentally cut the owner.

Evac3 is currently available for free.
