Golden Bay Distillery is a company that authentically hand crafts natural spirits that are sustainably sourced, using time honored distilling methods. They are based in the Golden Bay area of New Zealand's South Island in a peaceful setting, miles away from the hustle and bustle of modern city life.

The site explains that their mission is to bring Golden Bay's artisan spirits to global sophisticated sippers and savors. They ensure this by focusing on producing small batch, handcrafted spirits. They are also dedicated to sustainability and realize that they have an obligation, not just a responsibility, to keep Golden Bay beautiful.

In the world today almost everything that is consumed, from food eaten to the air breathed, is full of chemicals. Golden Bay Distillery explains that much of today's food and beverages contain additives, colorings and preservatives. This is why Golden Bay Distillery was established to create the best natural and preservative free spirits in the world. Through enjoying their products one can experience the purity and tranquility of beautiful Golden Bay.

Their Master Distiller, Terry Knight, uses only completely natural ingredients and the clearest spring water in the world. They say that when their customers taste the end products they are amazed at the results. Their products have a perfect clean taste and smooth long lasting flavor.

The company endeavors to make sure that everything from ingredients to packaging is sourced in a way that creates low impact on the world around them. They explain that this concern for the environment combined with their skillful artisanal distillation methods is the key to their success and their global fan base.
