Oakley Roofing was established in 1993 as a Utah roofing company focused on the commercial market specializing in membrane roofing. The bulk of Oakley's business is still membrane roofing, however the company has expanded to provide residential roofing as well. Roof replacement remains Oakley's core business.

As a Salt Lake City roofing contractor, Oakley Roofing provides affordable residential and commercial roof installation and repair for home and business property in Utah. The company has it's own fully equipped sheet metal shop which allows for quick turnarounds in custom sheet metal fabrication including copper roofing projects. Commercial roofing repair and replacement can be overwhelming without qualified roofing specialists assisting in the repair, replacement and other emergency roofing needs of commercial properties.

Company founder Bryce Oakley explains "We employ professional roofers who are dedicated to their trade. Our installers have been trained and certified by our roofing product manufacturers and have years of experience roofing Salt Lake City properties... Our goal is to provide the best customer service in the industry, and we believe that to be the key to our success."

Oakley's goal is to provide affordable solutions for Utah's residential and commercial needs... and includes small business roof repair & even larger commercial flat roof membrane replacement projects.

The company is on a mission to be the best roof repair and roofing replacement company in Utah. Whether its residential property or a commercial building, a team of qualified roof installers are ready to repair, replace or install any type of roofing or commercial roof material. The company also offers emergency roof repair and year round maintenance service.

Bryce Oakley added "We want to be Utah's premier roofing contractor... We pride ourselves on giving our customers a thorough and honest analysis of the condition of their roof. We identify the cause of specific problems customers are experiencing with their roof and offer solution options. We treat your roof as if it were our own..."

Utah roofing poses problems that are unique to the State, due to altitude, climate and air quality. Oakley installers are highly experienced in roof repair and have learned to identify potential problem areas on a roof. This allows company installers to make the necessary adjustments during a roof installation so that those problem areas never become a problem.
