Dr Brian Windle is certified by the American Board of Plastic Surgery and the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada. He has also served as Director of Plastic Surgery at University Hospitals of Cleveland and was Assistant Professor in the Department of Surgery at Case Western Reserve University for 10 years.

Dr Windle is an expert in the area of facial cosmetic and reconstructive surgery for many years. He has also developed an interest in Botox and dermal fillers. He uses his skills to help people in Kirkland, Bellevue and Seattle, WA.

Dr Windle's website features a page on facelifts and discusses what one is, what can be expected from having one, before and after photos, costs, procedures involved and risks. This guide is so potential surgery candidates can be fully informed of expectations before considering booking a consultation with Dr Windle.

It is explained that a face lift, or rhytidectomy. Is a surgical procedure that is used to improve the appearance of the face. It is generally carried out to correct jowls and neck wattle, and is also used to correct deeply creased smile lines. It does not affect the eyelids, brow or lines of the lips.

While a facelift cannot halt the aging process it does rejuvenate and improve the lines of the jawline and neck by regaining lost definition. Other alternatives include mini facelifts, facial liposuction and fillers to achieve the desired result.

The first step towards any surgery is a consultation where Dr Windle will evaluate the patient's general health, examine the face, condition of skins and underlying soft tissue and bone structure. He will explain options that are available and review the procedure and relate the risks involved. He also discusses recovery and healing.
