Singapore, Singapore - April 19, 2017 /MarketersMedia/ -- Gifts are a great way for people to show their affection and give meaningful presents that create and reinforce bonds. Finding the right gift, however, is becoming increasingly difficult. People's passions change more frequently and the merchandise out there becomes infinitely more varied. Individuals can now spend hours across multiple sites searching for the perfect item and still not find it. Love Trendify is a new online store that brings together the best gift items from across the web to a single online location, newly launched to provide ideal gift ideas for every occasion.

The new website (www.lovetrendify.com) is fully responsive and loads seamlessly on any device or screen size. It has been set up with comprehensive, fast, and secure payment options, including expedited shipping for emergencies. The website also makes use of high quality imagery and detailed product descriptions to help people understand the price and appeal of each product.

The site has merchandise from every major franchise, including Marvel, Disney and Star Wars, while at the same time curating the website into collections based on people's hobbies and interests, including things like animal lovers and fantasy lovers. They even include collections for specific events such as birthdays and Christmases.

A spokesperson for Love Trendify explained, "We are pleased to be able to help people find the best possible collections of gifts together in a single location.
