This is a very accessible place that offers a more spacious office and better parking. We actually really chose this place as we believe that it is a really strategic location close to most commercial facility areas. All efforts by our team has really paid off, and I would like to thank them all for that," said Ng.

"This year, the business has been operating really well. We have managed to close some deals with big companies and we want to ride in that momentum by moving in to a more prestige and bigger location. We now can offer more space for our employees, that's one thing that I am proud to say. Our customers are also going to love the more spacious office that we will be operating on.
