The explosive and rapid growth of the video gaming industry in AAA, indie and casual gaming markets has resulted in an annual revenue of more than $91 billion dollars in 2016. Across PC, Xbox and PS4 platforms, the gaming industry faces a growing need for credible and informative journalism. CharlieOscarDelta presents breaking industry news, new releases, events, and previews of upcoming titles.

The site will also feature in-depth analyses of trends in the gaming industry spanning development, pre-release, game debut, and post-production. The Mission District, San Francisco video game journalism studio website features news and interviews with the key people from AAA studios as well as indie game developers to provide viewers with comprehensive esports industry coverage in San Francisco.

CharlieOscarDelta is also expected to feature changes in gaming hardware and carry expert analyses of the PC, console and mobile gaming landscapes. In addition to news about development and publishing, the new website covers eSports events such as LAN tournaments, Comic-Cons, and gaming conventions.

Website viewers can view and rate their favorite games, gain access to first look previews and game release dates, and engage with other gamers through the website's social channels. The site also provides in-depth articles covering game studios and the lawsuits surrounding some of the world's largest franchises.

According to a spokesperson for CharlieOscarDelta, "As a local San Francisco company, we operate at the very heart of where the world's finest games are developed, published, and played. Our new website is designed for easy navigation and interactivity, allowing gamers, developers, and others from within and outside the industry to showcase their games to the world."

Headquartered in San Francisco, CharlieOscarDelta is the publisher of gaming news and industry trends. The Mission District, San Francisco video game journalism studio covers multi-platform video gaming entertainment across PC, Xbox, and PS4. More information is available at the URL above.
