Organic cotton products used in babycare products are gentler on baby skin, easier to manufacture, environmentally responsible and sustainable. The Kiddi Comforts line is designed for comfort and safety, using two sets of snap fasteners that are comfortable for growing children. Snap fasteners afford the added advantage of securing the bib so that it cannot be easily unfastened.

Bandana drool bibs and teething bibs made from organic cotton are safer since they prevent any contact with heavy chemical residues that may be found on non-organic products. All products from Kiddi Comforts carry the GOTS (Global Organic Textile Standard) certification as a standard of quality.

Kiddi Comforts organic cotton bibs are lightweight and comfortable. The store avoids the use of velcro and harsh plastics that can cause chafing and discomfort. The summer line of bandana bibs is available in a range of bright and pleasing summer motifs.

According to a spokesperson for Kiddi Comforts, "We believe that environmental responsibility is an important part of childcare. Our new summer line of bandana drool bibs are lovingly crafted from the finest organic cotton that is grown without the use of chemical pesticides. Our commitment is to craft finely designed eco-friendly and affordable products."
