Eugene, Oregon - April 21, 2017 /MarketersMedia/ -- Men can now take charge of their fashion and style choices with the help of Hone. The recently designed and launched website at www.hone.style offers resources, tutorials and tips regarding men's fashion, men's hygiene products, and other articles that virtually any man is going to find beneficial.

"At Hone, our mission is to make fashion accessible and not as intimidating for modern men," company representative Benjamin Bar stated. "We offer everything on our website from information about the latest products and trends for men to links for actually making a purchase. We are all about providing information to help modern men make educated decisions about the things they wear and the products they use on a day to day basis."

Hone isn't just about men's fashions. There are other categories found on the hone.style website, as well. These include beards, skin, shaving, mustaches, hair and body. Each of these sub-categories are full of information, product reviews and other resources hand-picked by Hone editors. "Only the best of the best is showcased on our website," Bar added.

"In the past, there was almost a sense of taboo for men who wanted to know trends and who sought stylish apparel," Bar stated. "Today, that just isn't the case. Modern men know the value of looking good and want to know what's out there to help them do just that. At Hone we are helping to guide their buying decisions."

The new website was designed to be as packed full of information as possible. Unlike other fashion sites, there isn't fluff or filler. Hone makes a point to get to the "meat" of the conversation as quickly as possible. Real answers from people who know the market are found throughout the pages of the Hone website. "We believe this is going to be a new trend in fashion websites - real information for real men," Bar commented.

The Hone website is active now and can be accessed by any computer or smart device. The featured articles and pieces make it easy for men to compare products, options and find the top items available today.
