ReportsnReports.com adds Global Narcotics Scanner Market 2017-2021 latest research report; The analysts forecast global narcotics scanner market to grow at a CAGR of 6.01% during the period 2017-2021. April 21, 2017 /MarketMedia/ -- The narcotics scanner market vendors are trying to increase the value of narcotics scanners by adding additional sensors that enable the detector to identify more than one signal. Thus, these scanners will have multiple applications such as detecting both chemicals and traces. The user-friendliness of the products is emerging as a new trend in the market. This is because these products should be easily used by the untrained employees at the checkpoint. The dual-sensor technology and the user-friendliness of the products are enhancing the value to the narcotics scanners. These can have a medium level of impact on the global narcotics scanner market during the forecast period.

According to the narcotics scanner market report, the trafficking of illicit substances is increasing worldwide. Hence, corrective methods are being taken, particularly in mass transit locations such as bus and railway stations, airports, and marine ports. Narcotics scanners help in monitoring and scanning people and luggage. In the case of any uncertain event, law enforcement agents are expected to be proactive to look for a suspect, act quickly, rescue victims, and take precautionary measures for the safety of people. A delay in the identification of unknown narcotics and explosives in the form of liquids and solids may result in irrevocable losses. Therefore, the need for quick responses to catastrophic attacks is important and is one of the major drivers for the market.

Further, the narcotics scanner market report states that the governments of several developing countries have cut down on their investments in various sectors due to the economic crisis. This has led private companies to cut their investments in new and existing projects. Transport operators are also curbing their investments on narcotics scanners. This decrease in investments by transport operators results in lower revenue flow to the leading players. This is because many vendors are dependent on these transport operators for their sales.
