Belfast, Northern Ireland - Allen's Tours, a full-service transportation touring company based out of Belfast, dedicated to providing tourists with access to dependable and affordable tourist transportation, this week excitedly announced their Giant's Causeway Tour out of Belfast. The special features a £18.00 price, starting today.

As a guided tour full of rich history with expert tour guide support, the Giant's Causeway Tour experience will bring tourists to Northern Ireland's most popular tourist attraction departing at 9:30AM daily.

"No one should visit Ireland and forgo seeing the Giant's Causeway," said Ben Allen, Founder and Owner of Allen's Tours. "As a large area where approximately 40,000 basalt columns are clustered, this naturally occurring phenomenon draws thousands of people worldwide every single year. Surrounded by mystery, history, and rich natural beauty, our Giant's Causeway tour is equipped with historical context and insight regarding the local folklore."

The Giant's Causeway Bus Tour comes with a jam-packed itinerary, including a first stop at Carrickfergus and Carrickfergus Castle, then to driving past the Magheramorne Quarry, traveling along the Antrim coast road, passing the Glens of Antrim, crossing the Carrick-a-Rede rope bridge, and visiting the Larrybane Quarry before stopping for lunch. After lunch, the tour arrives at the Giant's Causeway for the spectacular view, and explores the nearby Dark Hedges before returning back to the launch spot.

All tours depart from the Allen's Bus Tours Office at 29 Donegall Road in Belfast, and return between 6:30PM and 7:30PM each evening.

"Tourists will be able to walk across the stones themselves upon arrival," said Ben Allen. "It's an Irish experience no one will forget. Passionate about sharing our landscape with country visitors, we are offering our tours for only £18.00 right now. Help us spread the word on this new announcement, and head on over to our website today to learn more about our travel support out of Belfast."

The Giant's Causeway is home to more than 40,000 basalt columns with entertaining folklore tales about the local giants nearby.

Allen's Tours is an award-winning option for exploring all that Northern Ireland has to offer. Additionally, they are world host accredited, making them the perfect guide for any Irish adventure.
