Summer is fast approaching. This means longer days, warmer weather and more leisure for everyone. Since the launch of their eighty-inch bright pink flamingo float just nine months ago, sales and interest in the flamingo inflatable have continued to increase. Teddy Shake has decided they wanted to focus on this growth, and in a statement issued today announced that the pink flamingo will remain the only recreational product produced by the company.

"Over the past nine months, sales for this flamingo float have continued to grow - they have skyrocketed," said Teddy Shake spokesperson Bailey Anderson. "During this time, a fantastic base of loyal, enthusiastic customers has grown, and they have provided us with great feedback about the float. As a company, we understand the importance of diversifying your product line, but at the same time, we do not want to dilute our attention or efforts.

This is why we have decided to compartmentalize our products, working on the development of a single product in each area. In the leisure area, this pink flamingo float will be our exclusive product. Our focus will be on continued research, development and continued growing the customer base for this flamingo float."

Amazon.com is the exclusive selling partner for the pink flamingo float, and all Teddy Shake products. On Amazon, out of more than ninety reviews, ninety-eight percent of customers rate the float four stars or higher, with the average review rating a 4.7 out of five stars. A recent five-star reviewer wrote "This is the 3rd float I've gotten from them and I love them. I even bought 1 4 my girlfriend 4 her birthday because she likes mine so much. It's great. Good quality and so much fun!!!!!!!" Another customer added, "Wonderful flamingo! Great quality, very cute, and very fun. She is as big as I had hoped too!"

The Teddy Shake flamingo float is currently priced at $39.99. Any Amazon purchase of more than $49 will receive free shipping.
