ClaimVantage Exhibits ClaimFirst at the Annual CLHIA Claims and Anti-Fraud Conference in Montreal

ClaimFirst is a cloud-based automated life and health claim management software solution, which is continually updated to ensure it's in line with industry trends

May 5, 2017 (FPRC) -- ClaimVantage, the leading international provider of Life and Health claim management software, will be exhibiting at the upcoming CLHIA event. The CLHIA Claims and Anti-Fraud Annual Conference will take place in the Hotel Bonaventure in Montreal, Canada on May 9th through the 11th.

CLHIA is a voluntary non-profit organization committed to providing life and health insurance companies with the information relating to the issues and concerns that are of importance to the industry. The annual conference invites insurance professionals to attend a three-day event, filled with speakers and education sessions relating to current issues and trends in the industry.

In North America, between two and ten percent of all healthcare dollars are lost to fraud. With CLHIA members providing supplemental health coverage to 24 million Canadians and paying over $30billion annually for health care services, this is a huge sum of potential savings. With the influx of digital transformation into the insurance industry, data analytics and artificial intelligence are deemed to be the next generation in fraud detection.

Salesforce recently announced two major business intelligence solution, including Wave Analytics, a data analytics application, and Salesforce Einstein, powered by artificial intelligence. ClaimVantage is currently working alongside a global insurer to implement these products into the ClaimFirst solution, offering insurers a better way to detect and prevent insurance fraud in the future.

ClaimFirst is the market leading cloud-based automated claim management software solution built on the Force.com platform. ClaimVantage recently announced the roll-out of version 10.0 of ClaimFirst. With bi-annual software releases across the range of ClaimVantage software solutions, insurers are guaranteed to be at the forefront of the insurance industry.
