

ExamGuides.com Releases CCNA Exam Cram

ExamGuides.com, a leading exam cram website, released CCNA® exam cram for candidates preparing for CCNA 200-125 exam.

July 9, 2018 (FPRC) -- ExamGuides.com, a leading exam crams website released CCNA exam cram for candidates preparing for CCNA (200-125) exam. The notes provides concise notes on important points for quick review before taking the exam. One may take two-path approach via CCENT and ICND2 for CCNA certification. The following objectives are included in the CCNA exam cram:

- 1.0 Network Fundamentals (TCP/IP, Subnets, etc) 15%
- 2.0 LAN Switching Technologies (VLANs, VTP, etc) 21%
- 3.0 Routing Technologies (OSPF, RIP, EIGRP, etc) 23%
- 4.0 WAN Technologies (MPLS, FR etc.) 10%
- 5.0 Infrastructure Services (DHCP, DNS, etc.)10%
- 6.0 Infrastructure Security (NAT, ACLs, etc.)11%
- 7.0 Infrastructure Management (SNMP, SDN, etc) 10%

As may be seen from the above, LAN switching WAN, and routing technologies constitute over 50% of the weightage. Infrastructure services, security, and maintenance constitute the balance. The exam cram notes covers switching and routing in a very comprehensive manner for thorough preparation. Other exam notes consists of CCENT Exam Cram and ICND2 Exam Cram. Please leave any feedback by emailing webmaster at examguides.com

About CCNA: CCNA, short for Cisco Certified Network Associate, is a leading networking certification offered by Cisco Systems on completion of 200-125 exam. The same may be obtained by competing CCENT (100-105) and ICND2 (200-105). The cert is valid for 3 years and one needs to revalidate the cert before expiry. There is no pre-requisite for taking the exam, though one or two years of experience in networking field is desired.

About ExamGuides.com: The website offers exam notes and articles on various IT certs including CCNA, Comptia A+, Network+, Juniper JNICA, and others.

Disclaimer: ExamGuides.com is neither associated nor affiliated with Cisco®, Comptia® or any other Company. All trademarks are duly recognized.

Contact Information

For more information contact Vijay of ExamGuides.com (<http://www.examguides.com>)
+918026634450

Keywords

CCNA exam cram
CCENT Exam Cram
ICND2 Exam Cram

You can read this press release online here