January 9, 2020 (FPRC) --
J M Roofing announced that it is on the "eave" of launching commercial roofing services in Chula Vista, San Diego and North County

JM Roofing, the Chula Vista based roofing company currently serving residential properties, is expanding into the commercial roofing niche, beginning Saturday, January 26, 2020. This division of the company will represent a return to commercial roofing for owner Juan Martinez.

"I'm excited to see we're growing and able to establish a commercial division," shared Martinez, "That's where I got my start in the roofing business 17 years ago. When I started my own company, it was definitely a goal to serve both residential and commercial clients."

The decision comes after a steady influx of calls from commercial property owners and Martinez' connections in the commercial roofing space. J M Roofing has long had clients refer them to their friends and family and this has led to a strong reputation in the community and a natural expansion of service offerings.

In addition, redevelopment initiatives in the community have spurred an increase in services aimed at commercial enterprises.

About JM Roofing: J M Roofing provides roof maintenance services such as roof leak repair, roof patching and roof replacement to Chula Vista and the surrounding areas. Owner, Juan Martinez has grown the company and trained his team to serve customers with the highest quality workmanship and fair prices.
